San Diego, Calif. (June, 2012)- Becoming a caretaker for an aging parent or loved one is a huge undertaking that many embark on for the sake of keeping their loved one comfortable in the familiarity of their own home. What many don't realize is that there are affordable options for in-home care that support independent living and a high quality of life.

Mission Healthcare has expanded their in-home clinical services to include private duty, non-medical home care with their newest expansion, Mission Home Care. Serving all of San Diego and Riverside Counties, Mission Home Care will bring the same personalized and exceptional care while providing even more diverse and affordable options for home care.

"With Mission Home Care, we are able to provide further services, more than any other home care provider in Southern California," said Director of Mission Healthcare Mark Kimsey. "From basic grooming, bathing, and meal preparation, to highly specialized surgical aftercare, we give our patients the quality care they need, all in the comfort of their own home."

The ability to maintain residence in the home is critical in maintaining independence, and a high quality of life. According to AARP, "nearly 90 percent of people over age 65 indicate they want to stay in their home as long as possible."

With Mission Home Care, patients guaranteed satisfaction with caregiver placement, sending an unlimited number of caregivers at no cost, until the right match is found.
